I can write a story.

In the middle of the night, Jim, who was hardly asleep, was under his bed, hiding from the midnight shadow. He was scared.

The other day his granny had warned him before dying, to "never set foot into the cave!"

But Jim was a rule breaker so, after the eerie shadow had gone he put on his charming, fluffy slippers on and went to the cave!!!

"I'm not scared of a dragon!" As he looked in the cave but, what he heard was a echo of a growl. The 2nd time he looked into the cave bats flew who were wild flew over head and one bit "ow!" The 3rd time was luxurious slabs of beautiful, amazing crystals that shimmer in the black black out!

Jim disobeyed his granny's warning and entered the dark damp cave. "There's nothing in here granny" Jim sniggered as he went.
